The Trumpet Mill = Dehuller is the result of a couple years of planning how to make a stainless steel, user friendly, dual purpose, electric or belt drive machine that will dehull or mill grains so that the farmer can process his own crop and possibly also his neighbors.

Small scale grain growing and milling with sales direct to consumers is a growing enterprise with some farmers selling grains like einkorn at city markets for up to $7.00 per lb.

Other farmers are selling glyphosate free flours to their local community at a modest price, a very worthy and commendable occupation.
